

Avi-Tagged Proteins Overview | BetaLifeSci

BetaLifeSci provides an overview of Avi-tagged proteins, which are engineered with a specific peptide sequence to enable biotinylation and facilitate protein detection, purification, and interaction studies. These tags are valuable tools in biotechnology, allowing for highly specific and efficient binding in experimental workflows. BetaLifeSci supports your research with high-quality Avi-tagged proteins and related reagents.

Explore more on the official page:

<https://www.betalifesci.com/pages/avi-tagged-proteins-overview>